A. The FOOTBALL PLAYER'S EMPLOYMENT CONTRACT

The relationship between a footballer and his club is labor, however it differs from the relationship commonly agreed in the labor market, because it assumes the special labor nature, as he goes on to explain. For the hiring of a football player there is the conclusion of a labor contract, in which it contains two modalities, being:

I. Federative Law: it is the labor relationship, which in Brazil is governed by the Consolidation of Labor Laws (CLT); and

II. Economic Law: is the business relationship of this contract, involving profits, bonuses, participations, regarding image rights, sponsorship, etc.

In this sense, the special employment contract is considered the pact between footballer and club, since it contains the two modalities of rights listed above. It is notable that in this relationship there is the provision of freedom of employment governed by the CLT and the fractionation of economic rights, similar to the nature of commercial transfers.

Thus, if there is the transfer of a football player between clubs are considered amounts ranging from labor funds to amounts of economic rights, and each party must receive what fits its fraction in the participations.

the participations. The parties participating in these transfers may be clubs, athletes' entrepreneurs, revealing agencies, sponsors, etc.

It is in this context that Dhahab Sports is inserted, in order to the agency that owns the digital asset to be revealing players in the football market, in order to actively act in the negotiations of transfers of athletes, thus generating security and guarantee for the utility token, considering the rights listed above.

B. OF THE TRANSFERS OF ATHLETES

It is also necessary to speak of freedom of employment, which in Brazil is elucidated in Art. 5, item XIII, and Art. 6, of crfb/88 (Carta Magna), a right that provides for the worker to choose where he wants to be employed, which is not different from the football player, who can choose which club to work for. This forecast provides a great demand for negotiations in the football market, involving the federative and economic rights of a footballer.

Not only that, there is also the protection of the rights of clubs and agencies, which are "owners" of the player's work, signed in the special

CONTEXT

Not only that, there is also the protection of the rights of clubs and agencies, which are "owners" of the player's work, signed in the special labor contract. Thus, when there are transfers of athletes, it is only the players are compensated, as also receive amounts the holders of the work rights of that athlete. Therefore, more than demonstrated the demand and various forms of financial negotiations that are part of the transfer of an athlete, thus reinforces the idea of security and assurance on which the utility token Dhahab Sports is based.

C.FOR THE RIGHTS OF TRAINERS

To those who own the player's work rights (e.g. club and agency) are protected some rights, such as to keep the player in his institution for all the time in which the transfer window is closed, to perform the first contract of employment of the player when he becomes professional, to be able to receive percentage in the first transfers of the athlete revealed by the institution, among others.

In this ballast, it should be noted that Dhahab Sports maintains strong security and guarantee to the utility token in view of it reveals and forms athletes of the football market and is backed by the above-mentioned rights.

In view of this, their safety is based when the athlete has and when the athlete is traded, in order to seek safety and transparency in both moments, aiming to establish a healthy ecosystem for all parties involved, especially for the acquirers of the utility token Dhahab Sports.

TOKEN APPRECIATION

Since it is a token, distributed through Blockchain technology, the Dhahab Sports digital asset will be available to the entire crypto market community. In this sense, in view of the nature of this market, the token is subject to market volatility, inherent to the environment of very high activity.

In this way, Dhahab Sports has created liquidity security rules, in particular security for its acquirers. That is, Dhahab will work for the token to be launched on the best centralized exchanges in the world, in order to seek greater reach and stability for the token

STAKING

One of the products offered by Dhahab Sports is the possibility for the acquirer of the digital asset to deposit their token units in the staking function. In this role, the user receives rewards for leaving their tokens stored in their wallet for a certain time, without movement, in exchange for receiving bonus in units of the digital asset, proportional to the period and amount of tokens in staking
